Frankly, I'd stopped listening to ANY radio completely, due to the fact that the programming is so unimaginative and weak. XM rejuvenated my interest in the broadcast medium. XM local information would provide me the triple benefit of 1) allowing me to have the innovative and imaginative content XM provides, along with 2) the local content that I no longer get, because I'd already tuned it out, and 3) forcing terrestrial radio stations to improve their programming in order to compete. Frankly, at this time I get NO local content, because I haven't listened to local radio AT ALL for years (well predating XM). If XM broadcast local content, I would be an ADDITIONAL registered voter getting it, not a SHIFTED, unregistered non-voter.
